AOR 1992-20

Dear Mr. Levin:

Per your request today that I check our political action committee records to ascertain the nature of the contributions that were written to ASHA-FAC by corporate check, I determined that such contributions have been sent to us by: 1) association members who own incorporated practices and wrote contributions to ASHA-FAC drawn on those practices; and 2) association members who are presidents of separate state associations and wrote contributions to ASHA-FAC drawn on those incorporated state associations. The state associations are not members of the American Speech-Language-Hearing Association. All of these checks have been returned or refunded.

I am not aware of any contributions to ASHA-FAC that were made by employees of corporations (e.g. hospitals, nursing homes, rehabilitation agencies) who are not owners of those corporations. It is possible that only one partner of an incorporated practice made a contribution to ASHA-FAC without another partner's knowledge.

Please let me know if you have any additional questions. Thank you.

Sincerely,

Kathryn S. Thompson
